Extracto

Hello, my name is Fran :), I am a young ReactJS front-end developer, specialized in UCD (User Centered Design). I consider myself a proactive, dynamic, decisive, self-taught, multidisciplinary person with high communication skills.

I am passionate about the world of technology, I am continuously training to be as updated as possible and thus be prepared to access new challenges.

My work objective is to participate in the creation of technological products, which can be interpreted by any user, without requiring external help and to give them a feeling of satisfaction that encourages them to continue using the product.

For me as for Martin Leblanc: "A user interface is like a joke. If you have to explain it, it's not that good".. - Martin Leblanc
